
Subject: Re: GRRRRRRRRRRR

Posted by Jecht on Thu, 21 Dec 2006 16:41:03 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I honestly think that crime is directly correlated with a fatherly figure, not with race. This would support j_ball's theory of environment. I have no clue where any proof of this would be, other than I heard in a speech once that something over 70% of all people in prison were without a father growing up. It's all our "I don't give a shit" society, and people that don't take responsibility for their actions. To be honest, the moral fiber of our current society is disgusting to think about. I consider myself lucky that my father has been here my entire life. But I digress.
