

---

Subject: Re: [SS} Clan is recruiting
Posted by MexPirate on Fri, 12 Jan 2007 16:40:36 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

cheekay77 wrote on Thu, 11 January 2007 18:57 Just for reference:

I believe a scud storm is a small range missile barrage that the allied units created in one of the C&C's sorry, but ive heard that somewhere, and i just thought of GDI and missiles being fired.

Also, i seen it on TV, its war thing, those trucks that look like V3 rocket launchers, can also have Scud missiles equipped, and i know they are russian, because there was a scare of them back in the 80's (not sure on date) maybe someone can look it up for me?

I think people are already pretty aware of what a scud is, the GLA used them extensively in C&C Generals as mobile weapons and the scud storm as their super weapon. And I believe you are referring to V2 rocket launchers - pretty sure they were Russian.

I thought scuds were used in the middle east during the gulf war by saddam, it's pretty old technology nowadays though, hence the association of them with terrorists and less developed countries.

---