- 1)you sucks balls at it
- 2)you dont even play

Glad to see you agree
Wait wait wait...

So you're saying that because I may not be skilled in the game that I have no fundamental understanding of the game?

Okay, so by that logic most sports columnists have NO fundamental understanding of the sport they're covering? What about coaches that have never actually played the sport they're coaching?

You know what they say, "those who cannot do, teach."

You don't have to play or be talented to understand concepts of a sport or a game. I obviously exceed your understanding of the game, and you're still playing!
