

---

Subject: Re: What do you think of Kozar?

Posted by Berkut on Tue, 30 Jan 2007 19:28:44 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I haven't been banned for killing him, yet (though I have killed him), but allow me to quote something completely random and unrelated:

Quote:Nothing in all the world is more dangerous than sincere ignorance and conscientious stupidity.

IE: I'm not going to constantly complain like every poster and his grandma, but seriously, Kozar, realize this is the image you're giving off.

PS: This is not an insult, it's an observation and comment on continued actions. I do not "hate" Kozar. I voted '3.' It's his actions that I dislike, but they are still his actions. If you want to ban for having a negative opinion, fine by me.

PPS: John Doe had it coming, methinks. There's a difference between criticism and redundant flaming. Something as petty as physical appearance should have no bearing on a person's Internet usage, anyway.

---