advertising, delete if you feel like it... i'm just bored

I am sure HBO wouldn't like that website giving out their series for free, since they are showing off Band of Brothers. I own that box set that is shown in an image on their website and it wasn't cheap that's for sure. Seems really sketchy to me...

That's why it's illegal for the company that hosts those videos. The publishers kindly ask for them to remove the video or face the consequences (sue, prosecution or site removal).

It's legal for you, the end user because you're only streaming it, so it's only the hosters that get prosecuted.
