Putting everything even remotely debateable ("Does global warming actually exist?", "If so, is it caused by human interference?", "Is mending our ways for the sake of global warming worth the economic cost?", etc) aside, I pose this question:

"Would taking steps like getting a high MPG car or finding alternate fuel sources have any bad effect on anything at all? Ever?"

The answer is no. While global warming may or may not exist, may or may not be a problem, certainly buying that fancy new Hybrid doesn't do anybody any harm. If not for the environment, do it just to be a better person.
