[Begin rant]

To those ignorant people on about canadians:

We dont carry tire chains, or snow shovels on us at all times.

Thats just stupid. No one even puts them on.

They're called, SNOW tires. And a normal shovel works just fine.

We're not all woodworkers, in fact, I think thats just plain rude to assume that all we do up here is lumberjack.

We do have something called SUMMERS where I'll guarantee it gets ALMOST as hot as Nevada somedays.

Dont beleive me?

We can sometimes get to 44 C with the Humidex Factor.

Nevada is desert....so dry heat....they are above 100 F yes..

Sometimes they get to 110.

But 44 is like 122 if I'm not mistaken.

And Snow around here lately is uncommon.

The last three winters have been shit, barely any snow. And the day that it did come, it was insignificant, and melted within a week.

Another thing: Did you know lower BC and Vancouver Island RARELY see a significant snowfall? Toronto/Lower Ontario gets bad snowstorms, yes, but thats only once every few years nowadays.

Ice storms, are a different story Ottawa and Kingston get bad snowstorms.

Dont think that just because we are "northerners" That we dont have a life. And see nothing but snow.

Within a month or two the snow will be gone, then here comes the green grass and tons of rain.

Dont start a flame war with me. Im not up for it.

Im not meaning to put anyone down, it just bothers me when people have no fucking clue what goes on up here.
