You must be really good if you can leave your base whilst surrounded by 1000 point snipers, sneak up on them then take them out.

But then again you sound as though you may be the type to lose the base in the first place.

An APC or tank is perfectly suitable for the snipers, especially as I am the one that will be point whoring their buildings and destroying the base in the first instance. Thus allowing my team the time to get a few snipers that will pin you down.
