I can identify with your pain. It infuriates me when I order my burger plain and they put shit on it. Ask Blazer. You don't want to be around me when I get my burger and I can smell the nasty shit on it before I even open it. I'll never understand why people want to cover over the yummy taste of cooked dead cow with condiments. YUCK.

However, I usually rant away from the employees and am nice to them when I ask for a replacement. The bad thing is that I usually drive-through and take it home so then when they fuck up I have to drive back there or just eat the fries and give the burger to my brother.
