
Subject: Re: Young German Singers Spread Racist Hate
Posted by cheesesoda on Sat, 03 Mar 2007 22:57:27 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Ghostshaw wrote on Sat, 03 March 2007 13:10 Common sense is not part of the human nature, its something you get taught by your mum and dad. If you don't get it, its called indoctrination and thats exactly what these girls have had. Their minds are so stuck in their beliefs that nothing will convince them otherwise.

-Ghost-
OMFG... SOMEONE GETS IT. HALLELUJAH!

Thank you, thank you, thank you, etc... these forums actually have some hope left in them.

As for the whole "you have a conscience" argument... it has so many flaws, it's not even funny. Everybody has their own set values. One's moral code is learned, you're not automatically born with it.

As Ghostshaw said, it's indoctrination. You're pretty much brainwashed into thinking the way you do. Your conscience doesn't automatically know right from wrong. It's a learned behavior. Just like a dog doesn't know that it shouldn't do its business on the carpet immediately. It has to be trained. The same thing goes with your moral code.

Honestly, it's quite a simple concept. I fail to see your logic in disagreeing.
