Check out some of the images Dante has taken on his FX card, I can say that the concrete looks much better than on mine. The JPEG format does however limit the quality on the cards though.

The second post in the topic below is a screenshot on my GeForce Ti 4200 Overclocked to 650/305 (nearly Ti 4600 spec) if you need a comparison. Note the first image has been filtered, so use the ones in the other posts.

Maybe we should do some high resolution image tests because i'm sure that the FX 5200 has better quality than mine, just would like to see the difference though.
