North Korea has already kinda backed down from the fight, agreeing to UN inspectors and dismantling parts of their nuclear program, so I don't think the U.S. is goin after NK any time soon. Syria (maybe I'm just deaf and blind) but they really haven't done too much to piss off Bush.

As far as Iran is concerned, I'm SURE Bush would love to run over Iran, but I think if he tried he'd get impeached in a second. I don't think Iran and its president are goin anywhere in Bush's time as president, nor do I think the next President will do much either, unless Iran does something short of firing a nuke. Both leading Democratic candidates (Obama and Clinton) are anti-war, as well as the leading Republican candidate (Juliani).

I vote never (assuming Iran doesn't do anything drastic).

Edit: oh yea, didn't really finish reading the whole thing, but I got the drift. I based my vote off my knowledge.
