

---

Subject: ...

Posted by newcmd001 on Mon, 16 Jun 2003 14:35:37 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

TechPoint whoring is not a bad thing... It's how you win the game. But when basically the whole team is point whoring and that's all they're doing there's no point. If the makers of renegade did not want point whoring they would have made it not possible with such things as MRS's and Mobiles . Point whoring gets a lot of people pissed and there's really no strategy to it but it helps win the game. Something to think about :rolleyes:

Yep. I'm sorry to say, but point whoring is a valid tactic. It's not uncommon. If everyone's doing nothing, I'll have no choice but to drive MRLS to Nod base and start punching their base. After hearing you guys discussing this, I'm quite guilty . Anyway, if all your teams keep point whoring and the enemy can handle it, I'll just drive an APC in and blow a bilding up, taking those MRLS as a distraction LOL . But be noted: I only do point whoring in ladderred games. In unladderred games I avoid doing it whenever possible. I prefer sniping those dudes out LOL

---