Firstly five months is actually a very long time in the world of competitive clanning. Secondly cheating usually = an indefinite ban. Robo was a special case, in that he actually confessed to the admins about cheating - a rarity to say the least. (of his own accord, not because he was forced or pressured to, or even because he was particularly suspected)

At the time Robo was banned, he was not told he'd be unbanned 5 months down the line.
