NOTE: You are going to flame me for saying this but I got to say it:

Some games are just so damned violent. I have to agree with Jack when he goes against the Manhunter 2 game.

I saw someone play Manhunter...oh man it was a SICK game. It was so unnecessarily violent...stalking around...killing people with plastic bags and baseball bats.

Games that use ordinary household items for killing will have a dangerous effect on the player.

I know games are not fun without guns and all but there is a line that in-game violence should not cross.
