Slave wrote on Fri, 20 April 2007 16:41I use paintshop, and I can use it just fine with alpha layers. The dds plugin doesn't export transparancy though, but png->seperate dds converter->dds is only a matter of seconds.

The only imaging program i know that doesn't support transparancy is mspaint.
so you think XI's alpha will work? As for dds, i am only using tga right now, before Renhalo's release I will converter all the textures I can to dds using my converter, and then I will be happy.
