Heh I remember on the old Westwood forums I made a post that said basically, "Do not reply to this thread. If you do I will give you negative feedback. Again, do not reply for ANY reason as you will receive negative feedback."

As you can guess people replied and then actually got mad that I voted them down

There were some that didn't care about their rating, but I found it amusing that most people couldn't resist replying, and then expressed dismay at getting negative ratings for it.
