Orca questions:

- 1) You using Router?
- 2) Cable, DSL, or Sat?
- 3) Changed virus programs?
- 4) Running ad-ware or spybot etc.?
- 5) Windows XP Pro, Home, Vista?

Based on those answers I may have more questions.

Me:

- 1) No just using my Netcomm NB5 ADSL2+ modem connected straight into my ethernet socket of my laptop, no router.
- 2) ADSL2+ (24000k down/1000k up)
- 3) I don't use antivirus
- 4) Nope
- 5) Windows XP Pro

Edit: Wyld here are some screenies

In all American servers I used to see Yellow circles followed by 163 ping in the advanced listings, this is what I now see.

This is my current download speed, same as before this problem started.

I realise that I'm not really downloading at 2megs like my connection says so, but that is because I'm too far from the exchange to receive the full download speed but that was never an issue for Ren.

Edit 2: Just installed my copy of Norton and this is what I got after a FULL system scan.

Now uninstalled it...
