

---

Subject: Re: Negotiating port with server

Posted by Ox90 on Wed, 09 May 2007 09:24:12 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Goztow wrote on Tue, 08 May 2007 11:46 If he was using a proxy, he wouldn't be able to join any server (or would be able to join all) as proxy's don't work with Renegade.

wrong.

playing renegade (or other games) via some kind of (special) proxy is easily possible. with some basic knowledge and another machine under your control (used as the actual proxy/forwarder) you can use it as a "bouncer" and play without revealing your real IP.

with a bit more work (some client hooking or so) you could even use any (public) socks4/5 proxy to hide your ip.

even if playing via public socks4 would be more pain than fun

Ox90

---