

---

Subject: Re: Dinosaurs on Noah's ark, T-Rex ate coconuts
Posted by EvilWhiteDragon on Sat, 12 May 2007 10:45:12 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Blazer wrote on Sun, 06 May 2007 19:11 <http://www.slashfilm.com/wp/wp-content/images/ttf23.jpg> lolNoah solved the problem of fitting dinosaurs into his vessel by only taking baby dinosaurs. Indeed, the ark has a detailed display of many animals happily boarding the boat: dinosaurs cavort with giraffes, penguins, hippos, and bears.

museumIn Genesis 1:30 God gives 'green herb' to every creature to eat and so there were no predators. When a curious museum visitor asks, why exactly T. rex had six-inch long serrated teeth, the guides go on to explain that T. rex used his big teeth to open coconuts. Apparently it was only after Adam and Eve sinned and were cast out of paradise that the dinosaurs started to eat flesh.

I'm far from a bible expert, but I'm pretty sure that the bible makes no mention of dinosaurs? I have no problem if people want to believe strange things, but I don't think its right to charge people money just to tell them things that you totally pull out of your ass and pretend to be factual. Some organisation called church is doing that for about 2000 years now :/