Nothing wrong with the actual game, I think raves, tank sniping etc are all part of the games strategies. The problem is some bigger public server communities, the mods and admins they support aren't even half decent (I dont care about how old they are etc), but if they not good ingame, they dont know half of whats going on and dont know flamming apc's or ref hopping is even possible so they assume hacks/cheats. Imo, I prefer immature younger mods/admins atleast if they half decent ingame so they know what they looking for to ban/kick
