just out of curiosity, since i heard it elsewhere but was never given resources to back it up.. the fiction auther that started all this, didn't he say "if you want to make alot of money, start a religion." ? (paraphrased, i dont know the quote itself)

If someone knows if he said something similiar to that, thatd be great. other then that I agree, its mostly a joke, I tend to ignore it although it's hit my attention quite a bit. even to the point of trying to shut down a anti-suicide teen youth group because it used 'psychology' which they dont believe is a science (I cant think of any resources on that one either. I'm too tired to dig it up now, I will if it is important to prove any of this, just consider it false until proven)
