

---

Subject: Re: tony blair steps down

Posted by ron paul on Wed, 30 May 2007 02:10:11 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

[NEFobby wrote on Tue, 29 May 2007 18:10]tzarmind wrote on Thu, 17 May 2007 21:13FrAM wrote on Thu, 17 May 2007 18:57dude he went to iraq for oil and to keep bush's dick in his mouth...

he isnt a great prime minister eh is just a pussy

The Iraq war was necessary even if it was for oil. Saddam was a paranoid and vicious dictator who murdered millions of his own people.

I'm surprised to see so many Americans hate this guy. Whether or not you know, Saddam Hussein fought and killed terrorists during his rule. Many people from groups which include Al Qa'idah were killed in his ruling. He fought fundementalism within his country and fought Iran, which looks like an enemy in the eyes of the U.S. He actually did you guys a lot of favours.

Sure he was a really bad guy, but the war was an unfortunate mistake. No WMD's, thousands of U.S casualties, over 600,000 Iraqi casualties, and hundreds of billions of dollars lost. Iraq is now a den for your enemies, America. And now, many in Europe, Asia, and even the states, look down upon the administration for its actions.

Funny how you guys go for Saddam and Iran, when the leader of North Korea has nuclear weapons with the ability to reach California. He also idolizes Adolf Hitler and has his own personal Hitler Museum. And yet you guys fear Iran more.

I honestly don't believe North Korea has nukes. The evidence to support him having nukes showed that if he did have them, they were so weak they wouldn't have been much use anyway. A lot of theorizing that it might actually have been dynamite.

But don't try to justify what Saddam did, he needed taken out. And for someone that tried to stamp out extremism declaring a jihad against the US sure doesn't contradict what you just said. Right?

fl00d3d wrote on Fri, 18 May 2007 12:29Hell, our oil prices in the U.S. are going up real high again, not down.

I didn't see that, so I'm only replying now. What the fuck? What does it matter that oil prices are going up? Why would that make the Iraq war any less likely to be for oil? Oil companies think in decades not a quickfix for three years. Jesus it's so retarded when people say that "DUHHHRR OIL PRICES GOING UP SO WAR CANT BE FOR OIL". Assuming the oil was intended for America anyway, the US could have struck a deal with some other country in the background?

---