

---

Subject: Re: Why Clans?

Posted by [\[NE\]Fobby\[GEN\]](#) on Wed, 30 May 2007 02:13:59 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I've made my clan almost 4 years ago. I find that gaming with a clan is a much better experience than gaming by yourself. All of my clan buddies are in their late teens, 20's, and 30's, so we don't have idiots running around creating drama. Drama is probably the worst part of clans, but fortunately we haven't had much in these 4 years.

Clan games are simply a lot more fun than public ones, because you're playing with skilled players on your team, as well as skilled opponants. It adds a whole new dimension to the game, where simply rushes will never work. With a full team on teamspeak, you're able to create complicated strategies that would never work out in a public game, due to noobs doing their own thing.

Clans are great nowadays, because most players in public servers have no idea what they're doing. Might as well get yourself involved in some tournaments and clanwars instead of playing all by yourself.

MexPirate pretty much narrowed it down in the post before mine. I think NE's Type 2, because we're all friends with each other (some in real life), and just play to enjoy the game.

---