opps i edited about 4 c++ fiels and clicked save umm how do i do that thing now since i already closed them?
"When you have finished making your changes, then save what you have done, then press "f7" to build your solution. This will create a new scripts.dll in the directory where your solution is. This file is the file you need to replace the old scripts.dll file with in your servers FDS directory."

i have the source files in a different folder atm to edit them should i place them back in the fds open the zip edit them thur the zip save click f7 then save again?

if u can explain the process?

this is what i did
1)copy the ssaow_source.zip to a different location
2) extracted them
3)edited them
4) put them back in the zip with same name
5)put them in the fds folder
6) went igngame to see if it works for people but nothing..
