
Subject: Re: Why fl00d3d is banned for 30 days
Posted by Jonty on Tue, 12 Jun 2007 13:16:44 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

j_ball430 wrote on Tue, 12 June 2007 14:13Jonty wrote on Tue, 12 June 2007 09:11j_ball430 wrote on Tue, 12 June 2007 14:06If it were me, I would have removed all of these posts to The Silo by now.

Yes, well she just like shoving her greatness in peoples' faces.

You know that I'm not completely on or against either side, right? Well... you're making me about completely against your side now.

You guys are stretching to make insults. If she deletes/locks threads and bans people, you insult her for censoring those telling the 'truth'. If she keeps threads open, she's just shoving her 'greatness' in our faces.

It's obvious that you guys have no arguments when you're grasping at straws like that. She's damned if she does, damned if she doesn't... if you guys want to prove a point, stop using childish games as your means.

I've never been bothered about this thread particularly, I'd have been perfectly happy if she'd posted her original statement, kept it locked and said nothing else. I'd have just tootled off to  and be done with it. But she keeps trying to provoke replies.
