

---

Subject: Current projects

Posted by OrcaPilot26 on Mon, 23 Jun 2003 05:47:38 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

I've just gotten back from a 9 day trip where I had no access to a computer, but I have now gotten back to work on several Renegade projects.

Many of you probably remember C&C Meltdown, I posted about it shortly after this forum was started, However I have not abandoned it, In fact, The map is nearing a beta testing stage. I will need to find some testers soon. C&C Meltdown has a fully functional helipad for GDI, and Nod is able to have vehicles flown in via transport chopper. The objective is simple, GDI must defend a damaged nuclear reactor, which in turn means Nod is trying to destroy it.

I also have a C&C mode map that is nearing completion, of which I will not give out much detail, and I also have 2 or so half completed C&C maps which I could possibly resume work on in the near future.

---