

---

Subject: OT: Optical Illusion - Spinning Girl

Posted by Blazer on Wed, 27 Jun 2007 11:57:17 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Which way do you see this girl spinning? Most people see her spinning clockwise. If you look at it the right way, you can also see her spinning counter-clockwise.

Some people have trouble and need to look at it for a couple of minutes. Others have to look away for a moment to "reset" their brain before they can switch directions.

For me the trick was to watch the legs and foot where it crosses the other, and mentally force myself to realize it could be going the other direction...then I see her spinning counter-clockwise until I force myself to change perspective again. Looking at her feet and shadow helps too.

P.S. Yes, the silhouette has nipples, that's not where you are supposed to be looking

File Attachments

1) girlspin.gif, downloaded 1085 times

