In an attempt I already predicted to be futile, I tried to have a conversation with him over MSN. Between all the retarded crap he squeezed out of his little brain, I managed to find a bit of troop logic. In order of appearance:

- From the beginning of the conversation, persistently act as a retarded ghetto highschool dropout. This will make people respect you, and fear your intellectual skills.
- Attacking a person with homophobic insults, increases the leet factor of the attacker. This is not to be considered immature at all.
- In no event, ever, make any sense.
- When facing an argument, attack the person with some more idiotic flames. This is considered the perfect counter argument, and does not have to be based on any facts.
- When facing an argument, never ever back a statement up with facts.
- When facing an argument, spam how leet you consider yourself.
- When facing multiple arguments, make sure to ignore at least half of them.
- Social skill does not exist. This is compensated by the illusion of having gaming skill.
- Always make links between totally unrelated subjects. this way your reply looks somewhat like a valid argument.
- When, eventually faced with the clanwar you cried about, and did not anticipate, quickly push the eject button. This means you flame the other person some more, and quickly sign off. A subtle way to cover up a dodge, wich will make you look like a winner.

With his dodge, I consider this topic closed, but not before troop returns once more, to come up with some ignorant flaming reply of ultimate denial.

Welcome back, signature.
