I'm not too keen on this idea. Not only is the community incapable of agreeing with one another, this idea stifles growth rather than promote it. It's a lot like politics. How? Easy...

Why does APB work? There's not a whole lot of users. Easier to control a larger body like that. I'm not so sure it'll be as easy to control ~600 users. Plus, we're talking about giving half-wit community founders a say in this. I'm not so keen on having some of these people with power.

I'm against it.
