
Subject: Re: Who should be the new moderator topic!
Posted by StealthEye on Fri, 06 Jul 2007 17:30:10 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

cheesesoda wrote on Fri, 06 July 2007 18:24 If enough people want to see idiocy be drastically cut down on, I'd be more than happy to be moderator.

I'm pretty unbiased when it comes to the leadership here. I don't side with the dissenters, and I don't side with the administration. I wouldn't be a lap dog, and I certainly wouldn't be a "revolutionary".

I wouldn't be a Grammar Nazi, but I wouldn't allow for intentional attention-seeking (troop and his challenges) and intentional stupidity (Viking and his purposely pointless threads).

I would be cutting down on Crimson's allowing for people to be intentionally annoying and stupid, so that may not be wanted by some, but I'd still be far from strict.
If that is true, you will get my vote (assuming there will be a poll).
