svchost has nothing to do with port forwarding though or anything about the internet, it's a registry checking file that tells the registry to load vertain programs when windows starts up/logs on.

Learn how to use a computer, how to spell, and grammar.