If you think weed is good for you, then you're honestly a dumb-ass.

Why do I get the feeling that it's actually YOU who doesn't have a fucking clue what he's talking about?

Do some research dude, and ffs! Stop taking my statements and saying them back to me, make up your own for once!

Do some research on what? I'd be willing to bet that I've done a lot more research into drug use than you have. I'm curious as to what makes you think you're qualified to make statements like "You guys practically know nothing about weed or other drugs" when you're not even keeping up with the discourse well enough to notice that weed being unhealthy isn't really the topic being discussed here.

Is there any reason why I shouldn't be allowed to smoke a joint in my room and play video games? What's so wrong with that?
