OK, here's an idea stolen from the purepwnage forums.

You post a picture of a game (from any time on any platform) it should only show a portion of the screen.

People have to try and guess the game and post with their answer.

The person who posted the picture confirms the correct answer and the first person who said it can then post their own pic. In the event that the poster does not confirm the winner can be awarded by general consensus.

NOTES: be sure the file name has no clue to the game in it! don't make it too obvious and ensure that the game name is not shown anywhere in your picture.

Here's one to get things started:
