When i was directed to your post on geekstogo, I did some researching and the fact that you admit to cheating other games makes me feel like no matter where you go, or what you play, you will always seek an unfair advantage through cheating.

Disappointed is all im gonna say.
I too am disappointed in myself.

But I have to say one thing. I have always kept a place where I don't hack. You can see me banned from several Jelly servers. You can see me banned from a couple of other servers. I am not going to deny. But neither of the two servers from n00bstories was I even suspected once for cheating.

Only until one case when my renguard went down and wasn't able to startup. Then andr3w started to suspect me. But even then I haven't started using 1.3.3.

I'm sorry grant.
