i find it very annoying when you try to tell people something, and you do so politely even though they are the ones doing something wrong and they mouth you off. a few days ago i was playing on hourglass and i was in a stans, and there was this moron in a lighty and he kept rolling up behind me and blocking me. so every time i go to shoot a tank i find this guy behind me shooting mostly me and not letting me retreat. finally we ended up getting rolled on by 2 meds and he blocks me again and stands there shooting at them... needless to say we both lost our tanks by somehow i made it back to base. so i pm'ed him saying "please dont block me again" no flaming or anything. not even 2 sec later in general chat i see this noob reply "fuck off noob, go cry to your mommy because you lost your tank... you noob". like what are you supposed to say then?

on top of loosing a tank you get called a noob by some retard that doesnt even know who the real noob is. and yes sometimes i does make me want to take a break from this game as most just flame and whine not play anymore. however in this case i ended up ignoring him and joined in an a few good rushes.
