lol wow, abusing the unknowing all the way.

A Server (also called box, by their looks) is a dedicated piece of hardware, usually designed to run online software on (also Renegade!). Usually those are owned and managed by companies, where you can rent one. Renz0r is not such a company, just an expensive in between parasite (no way to word it more positive, after above post).

I suggest you google a bit, and ask some advice, if you are looking for a server.

edit: But ofcourse, you could also use your home computer to host Reneagde on. Just don't expect to be able to host big games.
