Whatever spammer. Anyway, mammy are good for camping, they are poor for air cover but if there is an enemy vech within range the mammys TUSK missles can turn them into scrap metal. Today I was playing a game, I was a mammy and there was a hotty reaping me. NOD did a flamer rush of about 6 flamers, and I took them out all with the tusk missles. They must have been nOObs. Well, the cannons are great for long range assaults. But I think people mostly use the TUSk missles. Anyway it is to slow and it should be faster, at least running speed. Funny having a nod techie chasing after you and you have like 15 hp left, you saying back off lamo, and they outrun the mammy and kill you.
