

---

Subject: Re: YouTube removing all copyrighted videos...DAMN IT
Posted by nikki6ixx on Tue, 28 Aug 2007 17:59:07 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

That stuff is copyrighted, and produced for profit, so it really shouldn't be spread around on a site like YouTube.

Now, if it had advertising for say, fifteen seconds before the clip, that'd be much fairer. The people who'll bitch and moan about not being able to watch a clip of the 'Gay Bee' from Family Guy without seeing a commercial will likely be in a minority.

I think Comedy Central does this with select clips from the Colbert Report, and the 'Daily Show' .

---