Login to WOL -> "advanced game listings". You will get the list of servers. Ignore it but check at the bottom right for "host a game". Check the different settings, they should be pretty straight forward. Do not forget to uncheck "dedicated server", otherwise u won't be able to play yourself. You can put a password on it as well.

Then start the game and wait until your friends join.

Attention:
- if your upload speed isn't big enough, then all your friends will lag like hell. Get the one with the best internet connection/computer to host;
- if you have a router, then it might be some people can't join in "negotiating port with server error". Get someone with a USB modem to host then or learn how to forward ports.
