YSLMuffinsWell Reborn is pushing the limits of the Renegade engine, with the mechs and hover units. You should know that, but they're trying.

Why not just have the hover MRLS have a really small mass, or maybe that would cause it to sudden fly into blue hell?

That isn't pushing the limits of the engine. The "mechs" are just like a tank, there's nothing different about them except they have a looping animation which looks really stupid.

The "hover" units don't even hover. They aren't "hover" units. They're just like a tank, except they have a fake animation that makes it appear to hover, but it just doesn't have a tank tread or anything below it to show that the wheels are there.
