Subject: Someone want to take over where I left off?

I was working on this for a while. Never finished it and it needs a lot of work to actually become something. I don't intend on finishing it, but I was wondering if someone wanted the .max file and all the textures.

My idea was to make a scary map that actually made you scared. I was going to have a safe house where you spawned and then you would go ghost/demon/spirit/zombie hunting. I was going to have some flying orbs, very faint see through characters walking around that couldn't be interacted with. Some scary looking statues and a lot of scary noises. I started off with great detail then I got to the point where I lost interest and then started to half-ass things.
