Why do you want to get a moped? if you don't mind me asking. If you are too young to drive a motorbike or car I would have thought it would be better to save for a proper motorbike or car. I just don't think it is worth risking your life because although they aren't powerful at all if you take a hit from anything you are going to be broken or dead in most cases. I wish you good luck with either purchase but personally think it is madness.
