Plus, in my opinion Americans have 2 accents, south (redneck), and north(city folk).

I take it from that comment that you have never been to England then?

We don't just have dependant accents on North or South here, my accent can be completely different to someone who lives 2 miles away (especially being a northerner) Some common English accents are: Cockney (Londoners) Brummie (Folk from Birmingham) Geordie (people from Newcastle) Mancunian (us from Manchester) Scouse (Liverpool) and the reet nase accents from up int yorksheer or anywur norfer than Lancasheer! (no my retarded pill didn't kick in then!)Phonetically speaking that last bit is roughly how the accent sounds And all of those places and accents are within like 250 miles of each other. Very diverse!
