
Subject: Re: jena 6

Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 28 Sep 2007 16:33:06 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

nikki6ixx wrote on Fri, 28 September 2007 12:25 What surprised me is that the white kids, who hung nooses under that tree weren't charged, because the prosecution said no laws exist that punish an action like that...

He-I-I-I-I-o-o-o-o, Hate Crimes?

I think the black ones should be charged, but the white kiddies should also have the book thrown at them, simply because no one should get away with this bullshit.
That's not a hate crime. That's freedom of speech/expression.

While I don't agree with racism, the white kids' actions were NOT illegal. Stupid, immature, and completely uncalled for? Absolutely, but it wasn't a crime. Just like a KKK rally is freedom of speech, so is that. As wrong as it may be, it is covered by the First Amendment.

I will say this, the white kid got what he deserved, but that still doesn't make the crime right. However, I don't think the "Jena 6" deserves to have attempted murder on their rap sheet.
