Don't get me wrong, I'm not trying to insult you.

Fiest of all, yes the tan color is a desert Camouflage. Camouflage isn't always the funky patterns that you see on combats and other military vehicles/personel. Camouflage is simple the color that the military uses to make something appear invisible.

Secondly, I just gave that pic because I thought you could use it to give more "life" to the way the tank looks, and still have it resemble the real thing. At least skin-wise.
