Don't forget any single application by default CANNOT have more than 2gb of memory, regardless of the amount of RAM actually available in the system. This could be the problem your having... there's some hacks and such you can use to make it access more RAM.

(NB: And this only applies to 32 bit, any 64 bit Windows operating system does not have this limitation)