

---

Subject: Re: What happen to this game?

Posted by Chuck Norris on Tue, 02 Oct 2007 23:05:48 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

Titan1x77 wrote on Tue, 02 October 2007 13:48anyways, marathons are lame, i dont have 2 hours to watch my team sit around while a person kills their tanks and repairs them back...lame server, lame actions by me, GGWait, so becuae YOU don't like marathons, and becuae YOU don't have the time, THEY had to suffer when it was YOU who was choosing to be in that game in the first place? If you dislike the way your team is performing, you have three options.

1. Hamper your team.
2. Try and help them anyway.
3. Leave the game.

Having helped your team is really no excuse to have hampered them. I also don't consider bad tactics hampering. As long as they're attempting it, it's not hampering, whereas you intentionally hampered them.

---