
Subject: Re: we should bring back slavery
Posted by cheesesoda on Fri, 05 Oct 2007 19:03:48 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

razorblade001 wrote on Fri, 05 October 2007 14:56No, but your explaining a point referencing a specific race or the division of racism in general. So you are being racist.

Hell your racist if you sit next to a Mexican guy on the bus and in your mind take note that he is Mexican. Basically, it is IMPOSSIBLE to not be racist.

So I'm sexist if I take note that it's a woman sitting next to me instead of a guy? Am I fruitist if I notice the difference between an apple and an orange?

There's differences in EVERYTHING. Hell, not even all atoms of the same element are exactly alike. To try and claim that we're somehow discriminating against someone simply because we notice that they're different from us is ludicrous. I know you're not saying that we're looking at the person negatively, but by your definition, we're still discriminating against them. Which, to me, is laughable.
