I mainly just hang out in the General Discussion anyway and to me thats pretty much all this forum is now.

Hey, the mod forum does pretty good.

You guys are my family, I won't be walking away from this forum until the very last of its breath. Well that makes two of us, so if we stay here till the last person leaves, it is going to get really slow lol.

Oblivion165 wrote on Tue, 16 October 2007 16:57I wish one of our moderators would step in and prove us wrong but thread after thread we talk about how they are absent and not one has even put in his/her opinion.

I think that they might think we can take care of it ourselves, but I could be wrong.

Well I have always wanted to make a Poll, so: (you can tell I have never made a poll before, because I thought it would place it at the bottom of my text for some reason, ah well).

I voted 1 week... mainly because they do lock topics, but the topic would get out of control, for about a week, then after 50 + pages, and when it starts settling down, a moderator would lock it...>.>
